

PIPPLES DRAMATIZE AND ACT TWO TALES

Stories of "Little Women" and "Nathan Hale" Presented by Children.

The stories of "Little Women" and "Nathan Hale," as dramatized by school children who had read them, were acted before an audience that filled the auditorium of the Wilson Normal School yesterday afternoon by pupils of the seventh grade of the Ross School.

This was one of the series of plays that have been given in the various schools under similar circumstances. The children do all the work connected with the dramatization, acting and production. In many instances the costumes are also designed by them.

The little actors and actresses included: "Little Women"—Meg, Gladys Rice; Jo, Frances; Anne, Eleanor McMurphy; Hannah, Anna Johnson; Mother March, Margaret; Laurie, Laurence; Amy, Brown; "Nathan Hale"—Clifford Corbett as Nathan Hale; Franklin Avelar as George Washington; Clyde Matland as Richard Hale; Kirby Tucker as Cousin Richard; Omar Brown as Captain; Edward Allen as Colonel Knowlton; and Joseph Frazier as Cunningham.

The cast of the second play, "Nathan Hale," included Everett McMahon, Earl Jones, Earl Holmes, Thomas Sweeney, Robert Schmidt, Merced, and others. The play was acted before a large audience of parents and friends of the school.

SUNDAY TERRIFIES 464 TO CONVERSION

"Second Coming" Sermon Sends Shudders Over Vast Tabernacle Audience.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—As the prophet of the second coming of Christ, Billy Sunday portrayed an event so magnificent and so terrifying that shudders actually ran through his hearers.

In the sermon, "The Second Coming of Christ," delivered at the tabernacle yesterday, the evangelist spoke of the mantle of mysticism over a materialistic city. He invited its thousands of inhabitants to take their choice of two things: to be lifted up bodily, carried in the flesh, out of their present-day occupations into the presence of God and borne to a literal heaven of golden streets and angel choirs, or to remain in a world out of which all that is good, and godly and religious and decent shall have disappeared.

The total yield of recruits to the influence of religion and to the power of the fiery seal of the evangelist, was 464, whom Sunday has preached here, streaming up the aisle for fully fifteen minutes.

Fifty boys, wearing the uniform of the Pennsylvania Military College at Chester, marched up in a body and gripped the evangelist by the hand, and sailor from one of the League Island battleships, flung himself, weeping, into the arms of one of the ushers, and a blind boy cried out to be led to the foot of the platform.

The sweep of souls back into the channels of religion came at the close of one of the most dramatic sermons that Mr. Sunday has preached here. It came after he had wrestled with his hearers, pleaded with God in an intimate and a personal manner, and held a parley with the devil that has been unequalled in his unique efforts to arouse the conscience of his crowds.

Baltimore Clergymen Indorse Billy Sunday

BALTIMORE, Feb. 6.—Of the 175 Baltimore clergymen who went to Philadelphia on Thursday to hear Billy Sunday, practically every one returned today converted to Sunday's style of evangelism.

Baltimore's delegation, divided in opinion as to the theology of the evangelist, seemed at the close of the evening to be unanimous in the conviction that Sunday is sincere, thorough and thorough; that he has been doing what he believes; that he has been delivering his message according to his best lights, and that he has accomplished a great good. And the fact that he has accomplished elsewhere the delegation seems unanimous in believing that he can accomplish in Baltimore.

The critical view of some of the Episcopals was somewhat softened after they had attended a meeting in the late afternoon, where George Washington Pezet, a prominent lawyer of Philadelphia, told them how he had come to believe in Sunday.

"Mr. Pezet expresses my views," said the Rev. Dr. Hugh Birchbeck, rector of Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, Baltimore. "He believes that God has really given Sunday a message to deliver and that he is doing a remarkable amount of good."

Relief From Rain Promised Today

Fair Weather Predicted for Tonight and Tomorrow—Old Sol to Smile Again.

Relief from the long spell of rain, sleet and snow, which has gripped Washington, is promised by the weather man today, who predicts fair weather tonight and Sunday, with lowest temperature tonight about 32.

The clouds will disappear some time this afternoon, it is stated, and Washington will be given another look at the smiling face of "Old Sol," who has recently come to be almost a stranger in the National Capital.

Tomorrow will be the first clear Sunday in several weeks.

DONATION WEEK TO HAVE NATIONAL DAY

Woman From Each State Whose Husband Holds Federal Post to Make Collections.

Federal Day, in Donation Week, will be a national day. For Mrs. Kate Wallace, in charge of that day, is naming from each State one woman whose husband occupies a high Government position, who will have charge of the collection taken on that day in the Government departments.

This was one of the day's arrangements, announced by Mrs. Ellis Logan, chairman of the executive committee arranging for the week during which all Washington is asked to join in an effort to aid capital charity and philanthropic organizations.

Arrangements also were made today with a number of hotels to have collection stations in their corridors and lobbies. Mrs. William G. Brown, wife of Congressman Brown of West Virginia, formerly Isabella Jewel, will preside at the collection box at Congress Hall.

Not a Sectarian Movement.

"It should be thoroughly understood," said Mrs. Logan today, "that this is in no sense a sectarian movement, or one limited to groups of clubs or organizations. It is for every man, woman, and child in the city, and by all means, it is to be a national day. The proceeds are to go to a cause which belongs to Washington as a whole."

Charities day, February 13, will have a special feature in an "open house" for the poor, which will be given by the social service and charitable institutions. Automobile owners are being invited to lend their cars to take persons to inspect these institutions, and it is hoped to provide cars for a number of out-of-town guests expected here on the day of the Washington's institutional equipment.

Privacy to Attend Distribution.

Clothes and food will be solicited without reference to those for whom these supplies are intended, and they will be distributed with the greatest privacy. Many families are in need in Washington. Mrs. Logan believes, who would not apply for charity through regular channels and charitable institutions. To these will be given food and clothing. Wilson has been invited to attend the next meeting of the executive committee to be held in the Old English room of the Raleigh Hotel Tuesday morning. Mrs. Champ Clark's assistance also has been requested, and she signifies her willingness to assist in the donation week cause if time would permit. She will give a definite answer to the invitation later.

INCOME TAX ISSUE BEFORE TREASURY

Chamber Committee Seeks to Deduct Losses Arising From Taxpayers' Transactions.

Determined to preclude any interpretation of the income tax law which denies the taxpayer the right to deduct from his income losses arising from transaction, the profits of which it is his duty to include, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States will send a committee to present this question to the Treasury Department, and should they fall there, will take up the subject with Congress.

Before adjournment late yesterday the delegates to the annual convention that has been in session at the Willard authorized President Fahey to appoint a special committee to look after income tax problems, and directed that it endeavor to obtain a reconsideration of certain interpretations which have been put upon the law with regard to the deduction of losses sustained during the tax year.

Few changes were made in the directorate or the officers last selected by that body. John H. Fahey, of Boston, was re-elected president. The other officers are: Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago, and A. B. Farquhar, York, Pa., honor and vice presidents; Robert F. Maddox, Atlanta, Ga., and Henry L. Corbett, Portland, Ore., vice presidents; John Joy Edson, Washington, D. C., treasurer; R. G. Rhett, Charleston, S. C., chairman of the executive committee.

The members of the board of directors are: Howell Chayne, South Manchester, Conn.; William H. Douglas, New York; R. G. Rhett, Charleston, S. C.; R. T. Cunningham, Fairmont, W. Va.; John T. Philip, Dallas, Texas; Charles S. Keith, Kansas City, Mo.; Roy Indianapolis; Henry B. Joy, Detroit; E. T. Meredith, Des Moines; Thomas B. Stearns, Denver; Thomas H. Egan, Seattle; Alfred I. Ebergs, San Francisco.

The convention adopted a resolution favoring the declaration of a permanent tariff board which should collect and supply information to Congress, and the President, and make no recommendations as to schedules of duties upon for them. The term of service, it was proposed, should be of such length as to take the position out of politics.

Another resolution favorably acted upon proposed the establishment of a national budget.

Edward A. Flene, of Boston, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, made a strong plea for the reduction of armaments, pointing out that the expense for pioneer work in the campaign for foreign trade that should be shouldered by the American banks, and recalled the necessity for maintenance of standards.

GENERAL INCREASE IN U. S. LIVESTOCK

A general increase in the number and value of farm animals in the United States in the last year, and an increase in the stocks of potatoes and of apples are noted in the "Agricultural Outlook," just issued by the Department of Agriculture.

The stock of work horses has not been materially depleted by the war exports, it is declared, and there is a plentiful supply of such animals, in fact, such a supply that exports are not expected to have an appreciable effect upon prices. The department believes the big demand for horses will occur after peace has been declared, as it is thought the belligerent countries, with the exception of Russia, will be short of horses.
